

Infopoint® Recovery Management

Product Overview

November 2010

Do Business Better

Today, the collections function within financial institutions is particularly integral to the viability of the bank. To keep collections rates high, collectors need to be equipped with the tools to efficiently make decisions, access customer contact information, and automate key processes. But changing systems haphazardly can increase costs without generating revenue to match. Banks need a better way to collect on outstanding loans.

Leverage experience

As part of the Infor family of brands, Infor FMS Infopoint has the support of a global network of experts who know banking because they've been there. Our team brings over 30 years of experience in financial management solutions along with an industry-specific understanding of what makes business software work in your environment. Infopoint is designed to give you confidence that you've trusted your critical banking processes to systems that have withstood the test of time.

Get business specific

Infopoint Recovery Management efficiently manages the entire recovery process while turning charged-off dollars into profit. Through total portfolio control, Recovery Management provides the essential accounting tools needed to effectively manage and track accounts in the recovery process. Experience dramatically enhanced productivity and efficiency in your recovery departments.

Recovery Management

Infopoint Recovery Management automates the traditional tasks associated with the recovery process. Flexible management controls combined with comprehensive tracking and accounting, allow you to turn charged-off dollars into profit.
