

Infor10 ERP iBusiness Enterprise Orders (System21)

Streamline and simplify.

You never asked for complexity in your far-away supply chain, but you have it anyway. In a world where you need to source materials and inventory from a global network of suppliers, both internal and external, and then serve customers who are distributed just as broadly, inventory complexity is part of the environment. When you have a way to treat your entire inventory and ordering process as a single, consolidated unit no matter where you store material, you'll be able to serve your customers faster and better, and at a lower cost. Once you've supplied the goods, you'll also want to automate both your internal and external accounting processes to ensure regulatory compliance and to reach peak performance.

Rely on trusted partners.

As an Infor10™ ERP iBusiness (System21) customer, you value reliability and performance. You strive to deliver that same, rock-solid service to your customers. When you choose Infor, you're getting solutions that help you get the most from the resources you already have, while staying abreast of a rapidly evolving business environment. You benefit from our decades of experience with thousands of customers worldwide, which translates into know-how that can bring you powerful results for years to come. Plus, you get an enterprise resource planning solution that's designed specifically for your industry.

Streamline your complex multi-company and inter-company ordering process and simplify the related accounting process with iBusiness Enterprise Orders.

Unify your ordering process.

You aim to source your inventory for the best possible quality and price, and you manage your orders to deliver the best possible service levels. But order management presents you with a series of complex trade-offs that you need to consider every day.

Infor10 ERP iBusiness Enterprise Orders (System21) helps you treat your entire ordering system and inventory as a single entity, no matter how many storage locations you use or how many customers you serve. It also handles enterprise orders from internal demand or customer requirements with equal sophistication while allowing you to maintain separate end-customer and inter-company processes.

You'll be able to keep separate stocks, records, and accounting systems as your business needs demand, but still get a comprehensive view of your inventory across your entire enterprise. That means you can avoid the unnecessary costs of holding dead stock in one location while suffering out-of-stock situations in another. Plus, the solution is engineered for speed, so you can get [and stay] ahead of the competition.

With Enterprise Orders, you get:

- Consistent pricing information across your entire enterprise for better sales and management decisions
- Automatic posting of appropriate AP and AR accounting entries
- Improved supply chain management that lowers total cost of carrying inventory
- Much faster and more accurate information for audits
- Reductions in costly clerical errors from posting transactions manually
- Higher service levels from knowing your real-time inventory situation at all times
- Time and labor savings through automated transactions and recordkeeping
- Streamlined inter-company item maintenance and harmonization of inter-company pricing

You'll benefit from sophisticated, up-to-date inventory techniques and improved supply chain management. You'll also improve your ability to respond to rapidly changing business conditions and seize new opportunities when they arise. And you'll still retain the proven performance and reliability of the iBusiness solution you've come to trust.

Experience the difference.

A first-class ordering solution can make a huge difference in your ability to serve your customers quickly and accurately while keeping costs under control. And with an ordering solution that was conceived and built as an integral part of Infor10 ERP iBusiness (System21), which streamlines the rest of your business, you get a seamless, global view of everything you need to keep your business running like clockwork.
