Challenges

- Provide the most effective and efficient HR services to all employees.
- Transform HR services in the least disruptive way possible for employees, the HR department, and the business.
- Provide proper communication to employees, encouraging them to help themselves obtain HR services quickly and efficiently.

Benefits

- Achieved or exceeded world-class status on KPI measures that include the speed that HR answers calls, the call abandonment rate, and resolution on the first contact.
- Jumped from bottom quartile of HR expenditures (most expenses) to top quartile of HR expenditures (least expenses) compared to industry peers.
- Achieved ability to constantly standardize, streamline, and automate processes, as well as consolidate policies.
- Gained ability to save time, effort, and cost for employees, who access information without waiting and without lost or delayed paper forms; for HR staff, who can focus on more value-add tasks and less on administrative ones; and for the COE, who can focus on developing better benefits.
- Avoided outsourcing and trained 24 new staff instead of the vendor-recommended 70 to successfully handle six times more calls.
- Implemented an HR-specific solution with all targeted capabilities.

“HR Service Delivery has been a win for everyone: employees, HR, and the business. Employees help themselves to get information more quickly, HR performs less administrative work and more value-add tasks, and the business is more efficient and effective, saving time and money.”
